

QUESTIONING OF LINDBERGH'S NURSE RESUMED; PLEA SENT TO KIDNAPERS

REVENGE SEEN IN KIDNAPING OF NILES BOY

Tragedy Strengthened as Father of Victim Reveals "Blackhand" Threats.

ONE SUSPECT RELEASED

No Word from Abductors Since Child Was Stolen Wednesday.

The Associated Press

SHAWNEE, Okla., March 4—Revelation was made yesterday that threats had been made against James DeJute, wealthy man whose 11-year-old son was taken by the hands of kidnappers, which strengthened the theory of revenge, and not politics, behind the abduction.

W. W. DeJute, brother of James, said the blackhanders had threatened the contractor several times, warning him to "be on the lookout for trouble." The contractor said he had forgotten about the threats until the kidnaping.

Suspect Released

A suspect arrested at Youngstown last night was released today when his police said he was not guilty.

Although more than 60 hours have passed since two men forced the boy into an automobile and drove away, his parents have received no word of him and no ransom demand.

Although the father of the boy said he knew of no enemies personally or in his business, detectives said the failure to receive a ransom demand left revenge as the most likely motive.

Description Given

A good description of the kidnappers and their automobile was furnished authorities by Mrs. H. L. Woodward, wife of the rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, who witnessed the kidnaping.

Young DeJute was overpowered and stolen near Mrs. Woodward's home Wednesday, while walking in school with his cousin, Anna Mae Medina, 12. She was not injured. The kidnappers fled toward Pennsylvania.

Government To Aid in De Jute Case

WASHINGTON, March 4—The federal government today placed its forces in the hunt for the kidnappers of 11-year-old James DeJute Jr., stolen near his home in Niles, Ohio.

It was said authoritatively in administration circles that the Justice department had offered the same aid in this case as that made available to the searchers for 20-month-old Charles A. Lindbergh.

The exact nature of the aid to be advanced by the government was not explained. In joining the search for the Lindbergh kidnappers, however, Attorney General Mitchell said that "every agency" of the department of justice would cooperate with state authorities.

CHINA AGAIN REJECTS JAP PEACE OFFERS

Will Continue Resistance, Government Declares, as Terms Are Unacceptable.

NEW BATTLE BREAKS OUT

Refusal of Demands Comes Just as Shanghai Returns to Routine Work.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, March 4—The Chinese national government late today rejected the series of new Japanese demands presented yesterday as a basis for further peace parleys just as the city of Shanghai, surrounded by war for a month, had begun quietly to get down to work again.

The government's notice that it would continue resistance was sent here in a communication from Lo Wan Kan, foreign minister, to Quo Tai-Chi, his vice minister.

"The new Japanese demands are not acceptable to China, which will continue resistance," the communication said.

Foreign Minister Lo instructed the vice minister to inform Sir Howard Kelly, British fleet commander, of the government's decision. Admiral Kelly has acted as mediator in previous conferences between the Chinese and Japanese aboard his flagship Kent.

"China has not declared war against Japan," the foreign minister's communication said. "Therefore, while China will continue to resist attack, she will also continue to accept friendly mediation by the powers."

Another disturbing report came in Chinese official advised from Nanking which said that a new bottle was under way at Taittsang, 25 miles northwest of here. The dispatches said the Japanese Eleventh division attacked the Chinese forces there and a severe battle was under way.

Japanese naval and military officials denied late in the afternoon that any fighting was taking place at Taittsang, however. Military officials issued the following statement:

"The Japanese forces are maintaining the same positions as yesterday, calling a halt to their hostilities and concentrating their units within an area east of a line drawn between Nanshang and Katang."

Although all peace parleys had failed, there was none of the din of war. The machine guns, artillery and aerial bombs which have reduced the surrounding territory to a shambles, were not rattling the windows today.

Chinese Generals Killed at Woosung

SHANGHAI, March 4—Two Chinese generals, Tang Chi-Shui and Cong Chao-Yuan, both of the 19th route army, perished in the defense of the Woosung forts, an official communiqué today said.

Both refused to follow the orders of General Tsai Ting-Kai, 19th route army commander, that they evacuate the forts when the Chinese retreat began. They chose to die fighting.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, March 4—Henry Pu-Yi, once China's boy emperor, politely declined an offer of chief magistracy of the new Manchurian state for the second time today, but this, officials here said, was merely an old Chinese custom, and he is expected to accept a third offer.

The campaign expense angle of the controversy developed last night during a meeting of the association in the chamber of commerce rooms when a special auditing committee read a report covering expenditures of the association during 1931.

Several members voiced objections to the payment of approxi-

Egg Prices Here at 12-cent Mark for 20-year Low

Retail egg prices dropped to as low as 12 cents a dozen here yesterday, the lowest retail quotation in more than 20 years. Wholesale prices are as low as nine cents a dozen, matching the lowest retail figure in a score of years.

When an oversupply forced egg prices down last May, the lowest retail price recorded in the city was two dozen for 25 cents. Wholesale quotations at that time were as low as nine cents a dozen.

Low egg prices are general in this section of the country. Poultry dealers explain that an oversupply exists because of an influx of eggs from Texas. That state is shipping eggs in carload lots to St. Louis and other midwest markets, flooding the market and lowering prices, they say.

The lowest March price for eggs since early in the century was recorded at Cincinnati yesterday, when top grade eggs sold for 11 cents a dozen.

BREVILLE HILLS, Calif., March 4—Did you ever see such a day? Nobody don't feel like doing anything, taking any interest in anything. The attention of the world is on a little curly-haired baby. Till he is found, we can't get back to normal.

Never since the two days and a night that this same kid's father was out over the Atlantic has the attention of everybody been centered so completely on one thing.

The greatest single "kick" that a whole nation got, outside of the signing of the Armistice, was when the news was flashed that Lindbergh had landed in Paris, the next one we hope and pray will be when this baby is delivered safely home.

Yours,

Will Rogers

LATEST CLOSEUP OF BABY LINDBERGH

This latest closeup picture of little Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., kidnaped son of the famous flier, shows how the world's most famous baby appears at the age of 20 months. Recently he has been learning to walk and talk. This photograph is regarded as one of the clearest and best released for publication since the kidnaping.

Einstein Sees Better Era as He Sails for Germany

By The Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif., March 4—Dr. Albert E. Einstein, eminent German physicist who has been studying here, turned homeward today with the observation that far better times appear to be ahead for both the old world and the new.

"Whether the machine age has been a benefit or a detriment to humanity as a whole, one cannot say," he said, "but at the moment it appears that in spite of interest conditions, it can lead to better times than ever before."

Another disturbing report came in Chinese official advised from Nanking which said that a new bottle was under way at Taittsang, 25 miles northwest of here. The dispatches said the Japanese Eleventh division attacked the Chinese forces there and a severe battle was under way.

Two Men Break Glass in Jewelry Store; Take Diamonds.

LOOT VALUED AT $150

Passing Interurban Car Frightens Thieves Away from Establishment.

Two men, one a Negro, stole two diamond rings from a show window at the M. N. Landen Jewelry store on West Center street last night after throwing a stone through the glass. The rings were valued by Mr. Landen at $150. Police believe they were frightened away before they could obtain more loot.

Shortly before 8 p. m. as a C. I. D. interurban car was passing the store, a passenger glanced out of the car window just in time to see one of the men raise his arm and throw the stone through the window. He called to the motorman and the car was brought to a stop a short distance east of the store, just as the two men disappeared in an alley west of the store.

A description of the two men was furnished the police by the passenger, whose name was not learned.

The white man is described as being about five feet, six inches tall, about 30 years of age, light hair and wearing dirty clothing.

The negro is described as being very dark, about five feet, eight inches tall, well dressed and wearing a dark suit.

It is believed the car stopping frightened the men away before they could obtain several other diamond rings which were in the window.

One of the stolen rings was described by Mr. Landen as being of white gold with six small stones and the other of yellow gold containing a single stone. Mr. Landen said this morning it was his custom to take the diamonds out of the window about 8:30 p. m.

CRUSADER GUILTY OF SHOOTING YOUTH

Chicago Jury Makes Short Work of Reaching Verdict.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 4—Daniel L. Gilday, 65 year old crusader against vice and liquor, has been convicted of shooting Herman Kno, 17, when the youth sought to escort him home, and faces a prison term of one to 14 years.

A criminal jury took only 51 minutes to arrive at a verdict last night after a trial marked by Gilday's admission that "he must have been drunk" when he shot Kno.

At the time of his arrest police who searched him found a pistol, official stars and a bottle of whisky and the prosecution in its closing argument described the crusader

as a man "who walked the streets with a gun in one hand, a gun in the other and a bottle of booze in his pocket."

It didn't take the authorities long to find Mr. and Mrs. Menzies and their children at the home of his brother-in-law, Gene Young.

The travel-worn tourist then explained his family was staying overnight, and that the telephone call was merely to learn whether

Young had milk in the ice-box or whether he would have to buy some in the restaurant.

Children Aided by Club Are Guests at Meeting

Years ago, four of the group, D. C. Nelson, A. W. Kette, Dr. F. A. Stengel and Attorney John Clark are still members.

The program was in charge of Dr. F. J. Hunter and included besides the numbers by the children two vocal selections by Frederick Hoch, accompanied at the piano by Miss Betty Annen, and brief talk by Alice L. Dombough, principal of the north State street school and Miss Mable Hastings, city nurse.

The importance of proper attention to the eyes of the school child was stressed by Miss Dombough who said that as the result of this phase of the child welfare work by the club, the school attendance had been better and the children had shown a marked improvement in their grades.

She also gave as her belief that as a result of the child welfare work being carried out by the city health department, the Kiwanis club and other organizations, the general standard of the school's with regard to grades, had been raised. She said she believed it resulted in the teachers being more alert to the defects to those children who were not improving as they should.

Miss Hastings expressed the appreciation of the city nurses, especially the school nurses, of the work being done by the club. She said, 100 children have been furnished with glasses by the Kiwanis club since the program was established in 1930.

She said she regarded it as one of the most important features of child welfare work and expressed the hope that the club would continue its work along this line.

John H. Clark in a short talk at the opening of the program asked that the children look upon the members of the club as "big brothers" and assured them that they would be ready at any time to extend help in anyway possible.

along often stumbles on a fair road."And to think that it wasn't more than two or three months ago that the country was given assurance that Governor Franklin D.
Roosevelt had the Democratic presidential nomination "in his pocket!" And now behold the knock-down-and-drag-out fight being waged!Action on the Cochran bill to make interstate kidnapping a federal crime was deferred Thursday by the house judiciary committee.
It will be called up again for discussion next Tuesday, some of the committee members feeling that congressional action should await solution of the Lindbergh case. To many the present would seem the ideal time to present it to get quick action.The American Telephone and Telegraph company's net income of $186,865,333 in 1931 established a new high mark for that organization and its assets, which had topped $5,000,000,000 in 1930 rose approximately $24,000,000 to $5,024,- 335,333. Even a period of great economic recession doesn't seem to have a restricting effect on the desire of the public to have its say.Convicted of abducting and holding a New York man for $50,000 ransom, Leon Golden was sentenced in the New York court of general sessions this week to life imprisonment.
This is the psychological time for those engaged in the kidnapping business to lay low.
In the present state of public feeling, apprehension and conviction mean nothing less than the limit penalty of the law.The budget for the ensuing twelve months adopted by the Chicago board of education calls for $90,180,263. Some sum, this, for educational purposes. Still, come to think of it, it doesn't mean so much, as there isn't a ghost of a show that the board will get it in the present condition of the Windy City's finances.The bill changing the date of presidential inaugurations and doing away with "lame duck" sessions of congress has received the approval of congress and has become a matter for ratification by the legislatures of the various states. Save in the method of ratification proposed, the bill is one worthy of general approval, but the situation will never be what it should be until changes in the Constitution are possible only on the direct vote of the electors of the land.

Who Deserves Reward?

Scarcity of capable, sincere public officials makes it difficult for Americans to understand why any one should perform extraordinary public services without being moved thereto by political ambition. A case in point is that of Judge Samuel Seabury, counsel for the Hoofstader legislative committee investigating corruption in New York.A few days ago Judge Seabury, visiting Cincinnati, declared that municipal evils fostered by political machines are a concern of the whole nation, meaning that Tammany Hall corruption endangers the entire nation, because that famous institution has grown so powerful it is able to make its influence felt even in Washington.There was nothing surprising in the statement. A superficial examination of politics reveals the familiar fact that the power of any large city's political boss can not be confined to the municipal area. It reaches to the state capital, to the national congress, to party conventions—to every quarter where the city has contacts.Judge Seabury's detractors, many of them Tammany Hall affiliates, seized upon his remarks eagerly, however, charging that his sole purpose in exposing Tammany corruption has been to build himself up as a presidential candidate. Tammany men are good strategists.
They believe, and they may be right, that by ascribing political motives to the man who has done so much to discredit them, they can turn the tables and discredit him, instead.Career politicians are unpopular. The public likes to believe it is willing to give rewards for service, but it does not like to believe its servants are moved by hope of political advancement. In business, a man who does a job extraordinarily well expects advancement.
In politics, the expectation of advancement must be kept hidden lest voters become suspicious. Confusing furtiveness is often the result.Judge Seabury may be interested solely in doing the task placed before him, or he may be interested in doing it for the effect success will have on his career. The result is the same in either case; the public is served. Should
the granting of reward, therefore, be on any different basis in one case from the other?
Is not service the only fair criterion?

Labor's Twentieth Century Position.

The Senate has passed a bill to strengthen the position of labor relative to the position of management. Passage in the house and the President's signature is assured. A significant improvement in a problem of long standing has been effected.In effect, the bill makes the laborer an independent agent in the process of collective bargaining. Contracts which employ courts to bind him to management where freedom of action might mean friction are declared contrary to public policy.Injunctive relief is limited, in case of labor disputes, to those who, having exhausted all available machinery and methods of negotiation, must turn to it for protection against destruction of property and obstruction to business. Labor is given immunity in nine acts covering a wide range.Judges are deprived of the right to try cases of "indirect criminal contempt" where the accused seeks a jury trial. Trial by a judge other than the sitting judge also is authorized in contempt cases in which the basis for action is attack upon the sitting judge.This is legislation symbolic of labor's position in the twentieth century. Though not yet one-third over, this century promises to eliminate all the annoyances that labor has called unfair since the tender years of the Industrial age. Already it has regulated working hours, improved working conditions, opened the way to collective bargaining and blocked the spread of child labor.A remarkable aspect of the economic recession has been the sympathetic understanding between labor and management. The one is more likely to be tolerant and the other more likely to be sympathetic. Such improvement is the direct result of labor's strengthened position. Management is coming more and more to deal with an equal in labor discussions. The planes of thought and action have been raised, accordingly, to correspond to labor's new position.The war party in Japan is finding the Tokyo government reluctant when it comes to the matter of financing the campaign in China.
The investigating committee of the Nipponese priests council having cut the sum of 22,000,000 yen recommended to 16,000,000 yen $5,120,000.
If Japan fights shy of war costs, before there is a war, what won't it do when it comes to paying for a war after it is over?The kidnapping of the little son of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh has brought to light the fact that there have been more than 2,500 cases of kidnapping in the United States within the last two years. Without regard for the feelings of the opponents of capital punishment, the imposing of the death penalty for kidnapping and holding for ransom might have a salutary effect.

Dying Hopes in Geneva.

It has been easy to forget about the misnamed disarmament conference in Geneva. A peace delegate's plan has no power to rise above the crackle of machine-gun fire. The conference, delayed for so long, couldn't have been held at a time when its chances of getting attention were less than they are now.Strong expectations that it would produce tangible results have been scaled down to accommodate reality. It appears now that the conference had better be called an arms agreement and no reduction of armament. There merely will be agreement on what weapons nations shall use to fight each other.At present, the conference is in the stage of technical debate that was expected to follow the preliminary statements of policy by various delegates. In this respect, it resembles a conference of business executives. The public is interested in the fact that the conference is to be held and wants to know the position of the individuals attending it. It also is interested in the probable final decisions to be reached; the intermediary stage of intimate discussion and debate is not important.The Geneva conference is but one step in the right direction. It was natural for advocates of peace to place more trust in its ability to produce results than was warranted by actual conditions. If the conference fails, it will be a sad commentary on the strength of the international peace movement.Bernard Shaw's new play, "Too Good To Be True," is said to be "tedious with talk." From all reports, George Bernard is somewhat that way himself.Major General Smedley D. Butler, retired, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination in Pennsylvania for United States senator, and the statement is made that he will run as a dry with the backing of Governor Giff. Pinchot. Without considering the wet-and-dry phase of the thing, it's a shame to handicap a live wire like Smedley with backing such as that.

Falling Barometer.

Treasury officials cover sheets of paper with scales to raise more money by taxation, congressmen look down their noses at proposals to raise taxes when ability to pay has been decreased and the United States sinks deeper into the financial hole every hour. It entered this month with a deficit of $1,731,171,496—a sum which would be considered a topographical error in any other nation on earth.Last July, at the beginning of the present fiscal year, conscientious citizens gasped when they were informed that the national deficit might reach $1,500,000,000 by the end of the year. Later, they gasped again when the possibility that it might reach $2,000,000,000 was suggested. Seven months of the fiscal year have passed. Two billion dollars will have been a stamping point in the financial decline.Three billion now is the estimate. Perhaps the idea is to make it high enough this time so that there will be a possibility of staying within it. But America doesn't gasp any more.
After all, what's $3,000,000,000 but just a set of figures? The whole thing is past understanding.Judge Seabury may be interested solely in doing the task placed before him, or he may
be interested in doing it for the effect success
will have on his career. The result is the same in either case; the public is served. Should
the granting of reward, therefore, be on any
different basis in one case from the other?
Is not service the only fair criterion?

Editorial Opinion.

FROM SHERIFF TO SHERIFF.

Governor Roosevelt's appointment of Mr.
John E. Sheehy to be sheriff of New York county in place of Thomas M. Farley, removed, goes to point to the saying that circumstances alter cases. Under ordinary conditions little or no criticism would be made of this selection by the Governor. Mr. Sheehy is a Democrat. The county of New York is heavily Democratic. What more natural than that the governor should ask the Democratic organization, through its leader, Boss Curly, of Tammany, to recommend to him a good man for the sheriff's job? It would be only the common procedure in matters of party patronage.Moreover, Governor Roosevelt has named a man who is vouched for by leading citizens as honest and capable. Even Mr. Norman Thomas certifies that Mr. Sheehy is quite above the average of Tammany district leaders. Apparently the governor obtained certain promises from him before appointing him. One of them was not to take the interest on the money deposited in the sheriff's office, as Mr.
Farley did and was indicted therefor. Possibly the new sheriff undertook also with the governor to clean out the incompetents in his office, some of whom made such a holy show of themselves when under examination by Judge Farley. As we say, the appointment of Mr. Sheehy would under customary political conditions be regarded as quite the usual thing and perhaps even creditable.The fact is, however, as is known of all men, that the circumstances are wholly abnormal.
It was not a case of filling a chance vacancy.
One sheriff had been ousted by the governor as a matter of high principle solemnly laid down by himself. What was that principle?Why, that a public officer who might find it easy to make money out of his political power is bound to expose his private affairs to the public gaze and to account for every penny that he may have acquired. Now this principle and the decision which went with it did not run merely against sheriff Farley. It struck at the whole political system behind him.When he was removed from office, none of the leading men in Tammany could be got to say a word about the reasons for it. They knew that he had been merely living up to the established Tammany of coining money out of political influence, so that if he were to be almost a cripple, besides causing many symptoms of nerve disturbance.Examination of the affected foot by a specialist and the adjustment of suitable arch supports is the proper treatment. In severe cases, rest, massage and foot exercises may be required.The front arch, known to the profession as the "anterior" or "metatarsal" arch, sometimes becomes weakened. When that happens there is pain and discomfort in the foot, ankle and leg, and a callous forms on the sole of the foot just behind the toes. A small pad in the shoe will give ease and grace in walking. The in-artificial gait of the wearer of high heels,
and the slouching gait of the wearer of "sneakers" are alike most ungraceful.A shoe that does not fit may cause its wearer endless discomfort. Such shoes cause blisters, overlapping toes and broken arches.The human foot has two arches, one each for from and back. The large posterior arch may be injured by straining poorly developed muscles.Long standing, too much walking, or the use of a heelless shoe also discourages. A common-sense heel of moderate height will give ease and grace in walking. The in-artificial gait of the wearer of high heels,
and the slouching gait of the wearer of "sneakers" are alike most ungraceful.So immediate was the danger felt when Hall ice will endeavor to solve the problems which are preventing the farmer from receiving economic benefits to which he considers he is entitled.

"It may be" said Lincoln in commenting on the service, "that the farmer's production cost can be lowered to a point where he can produce his crops more profitably. It may be his distribution methods could be improved, or perhaps his trouble lies in problems of credit and finance. In any event present conditions demand closer attention to such matters than normal conditions demand, or than most farmers have time for, and the service is expected to supply the answer."

The new service Lincoln continued, should not be confused with farm accounts, now carried by the devotional. The life story of some farmers' "Farm accounts" he continued, "are extremely helpful."

Lincoln's service is a new business. The service is in getting of their ems.

DENTIST SLAYS AGED MOTHER

Seattle Man Confesses, Police Say; Faces Second Degree Charge.

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE. March 4. A second degree murder charge today hung over Dr. Albert C. McKeown, 47, a dentist who admitted officials say he killed his 81-year-old mother, Mrs. Rhoda McKeown of Massie, Ia., Tuesday.

Deputy Prosecutor E. G. Lenihan said he would file the charge adding he was convinced the killing was not premeditated.

"Yes, I killed my mother. In McKeown told newspaper reporters last night, 'I don't remember just how it happened. But I killed her.'

Lenihan said the dentist had tripped on the basement stairs and fallen against her, knocking her down, after which she accused him of attempting to kill her.

"She screamed so loudly I lost my head and struck her in the face with my fist," McKeown told Lenihan.

The dentist said his mother then bit his hand and he struck her again, fracturing her skull. Final blow to his mother had been dealt on the killing, he said.

He admitted, however, she held notes for $10,750 which stipulated they would be cancelled upon her death and which she had wanted changed to become assets of her estate.

"She never was a mother to me—she never was to any of us," he declared. "None of you fellows could kill your mother, but you did, had real mothers—I never did. Everything was money with her—all her life—just money and interest."

12 PERSONS ANSWER CHURCH ALTAR CALL

Evangelist Will Preach at Three Services Sunday at Calvary.

Twelve persons responded to the altar call last night at Calvary Evangelical church at the close of a sermon by Mrs. Edna Beougher Hughes of Lancaster from the text, Luke 15:18, "I will arise and go to my Father." A duet was sung.

Mrs. Hughes will preach tonight and give three sermons Sunday. No services will be conducted Saturday night.

She said in part last night:

"There is coming a time when you will reap what you sow. The folks who will lead you astray when you are young, will be the very ones to stand back and snipe at you when you are in trouble."

"Fathers and mothers," she said, "sow his wild oats." Be courageous, the habits he is forming now will be hard to quit when he is grown up. There is coming a time when the prodigal young man will need a friend. Man or woman, if you will just come home to the Father, He will plant a kiss of forgiveness on your soul."

The Lindbergh Child
Ransom Ready
New Kidnapping Laws
A Federal Problem

BY ARTHUR GRISBANE

YESTERDAY at half past four when this was written no news had come concerning the Lindbergh child. Close and alleged information had proved worthless.

Obviously the abductors, in view of the nationwide hue and cry, fear the baby could not be returned without danger to themselves.

Those that took the child are, evidently, men of some intelligence, as shown by precautions taken to prevent identification. They must know that Col. Lindbergh would not deceive them, would not give his word and break it.

His only desire is to get back his child and end the dreadful suffering of his unhappy wife. Nothing else is in his mind, no feeling of revenge, nothing but a desire to recover the child, pay the sum demanded and let those that received it go in peace.

This writer and this newspaper can assure the kidnappers, most solemnly, that, without any fear or suspicion, they may communicate with Col. Lindbergh, put themselves in his hands, with the certainty that he will deal fairly with them, pay them the ransom upon recovery of his child and never pursue them or give to anybody information that could possibly lead to their arrest. . . .

TO RETURN the child now, taking the $50,000, means for the kidnappers safety and wealth. To delay, with the child in a delicate health, would make future detection and punishment absolutely certain.

It would be simple for the kidnappers to send word to Col. Lindbergh to go to a certain place, there to find written instructions, and proceed immediately in accordance with the instructions to some other spot, where the baby would be delivered on payment of the ransom, with the further stipulation that Col. Lindbergh should remain with the child, on the spot where it was delivered, long enough to give the kidnappers abundance of time to escape.

To return the child, receive the money, and with it, safety, would not be difficult now.

To delay means danger for the child, and certain punishment for those that abducted it.

IN ENGLAND kidnapping is almost unknown, and is not a firmly established, profitable "market," as in this country of prohibition racketeering, bootlegging and lawlessness.

The London Daily News sees in the Lindbergh kidnapping "the most open challenge to civilized government that has ever been ventured."

IT IS PROPOSED in Congress that kidnapping be made a "federal crime" and that death be made the penalty.

No punishment, not even the most horrible torture that the abductors inflicted, could inflict upon a kidnapper the suffering that he inflicts on the mother and father of a child.

And there is no doubt that kidnapping should be made a crime against the laws of the nation. It is a direct attack on the constitution. It deprives a human being of liberty and often of life, taking away his freedom without "due process of law."

It is an interstate crime, as most invariably the criminals pass from one state to another.

As to the death penalty, that might prove to be more dangerous for those kidnapped than for the kidnappers.

In eight of the forty-eight states death is now the legal penalty for kidnapping. In New Jersey, kidnapping can be punished with life imprisonment, or a minimum of five years, at the discretion of the judge.

It is important that kidnapping should be made a federal crime because of the persistence with which the department of justice follows criminals, as shown on counterfeiting cases.

FAMOUS POE STORY TO BE ON SCREEN AT
MARION FOR 2 DAYSWESTERN STORY
AT STATE

"The Nevada Buckaroo," a western picture starring Bob Steele, will be at the State tonight and Saturday. Bob is a member of a road agent gang which preys on the stage coach lines running from Rattlesnake Gulch to Carson City.

A replica of the famous stage coaches used in the early history of Nevada and California, correct in every detail was made for this picture. Dorothy Dix, Steele's leading woman, started on a career of law before the pictures lured her.

A poor girl who longs for "life" nearly steps over the boundary line in "Under Eighteen," starring Marian Marsh, which will close Saturday at the Ohio.

Warren William, in the role of the rich man to whom she appeals for funds to help her sister get a divorce, is a picture-stealer. She is in love with Regis Toomey, but her appeals to him for the money are futile when he finds out for what purpose it will be used. Determined to get the money she appeals first to Paul Porcasi, owner of the fashionable modiste shop in which she is a model, and later goes to William, a rich playboy, arriving in the midst of a wild party. Toomey finds her there in a compromising situation with William, and misunderstanding strikes him and leaves. Marian turns and finds William on the floor. She is to be held for murder if William dies. She escapes and Toomey goes to her apartment with the money, declaring his love and trust. William's butler arrives with the money for which she has asked, and in the next instant, the gown shop owner sends her the money. Best wishes for the couple are in order when the picture closes.

A Booth Tarkington comedy and newreel are on the bill. H. H.

Doing just one thing makes men experts, whether it's cutting down a forest or making malt. The masters who make Blue Ribbon do nothing but make malt—one reason for its superior quality.

Harding Opens Quest for District Cage Title Tonight

TACKLES GRANDVIEW TEAM AT DELAWARE; GAME STARTS AT 9

Presidents in Good Shape for Tournament; Starting Line-up Uncertain.

Harding High school will commence its bid for regional basketball honors tonight at Delaware when the Red and Black cohorts under the direction of D. N. Bohrer romp onto the court of Edwards gym against Grandview High school, their first opponent in the central district class A tournament. Bohrer yesterday named the 10 men who will make the trip to the neighbor city tonight for the first tournament game but declined to name his starting five until immediately before the team swings into action at 9 p.m. tonight.

Jack Lang, Billie Herro, John Blecher, Freddie Vestal, John Pickeral, Don Lindsey, Dick Morgan, Junior Clay, Bill Stark and Harry Whitman will compose the Harding squad tonight. Lang, Vestal and Herro are likely to be at the center and forward positions but the guards posts are a toss up between either Morgan and Clay or Lindsey and Pickeral.

Harding's representatives in the foul shooting tournament will make their efforts from the charity stripe at 6:15 tonight. Bohrer had not named the boys who will do the foul shooting early today. Each contestant in the free throw competition will be given 45 shots. The winner of the tournament will meet the winner of the class B district foul shooting tournament for the right to enter the state free throw tournament at a later date.

If Harding is able to hurdle the Grandview obstacle, the Bohrers will step up against either Columbus South or Columbus West Saturday at 8:45 p.m. These two teams will play tonight to decide which will face the winner of the Harding-Grandview game Saturday.

WESLEYAN APPEARS STRONG ON TRACK

By The Associated Press
DELAWARE, O., March 4.—Strength in the track events and weakness in the fields are the characteristics of this year's Ohio Wesleyan track team, runner up last year to Miami for the Buckeyes' athletic association championship.

Coach George Gauthier has two exceptionally good men available in Chuck Mears, Stone Creek hurdler, and Frank Leonard, Philadelphia pole vaulter. Mears won both hurdles events in the conference meet last year, and Leonard has been going over the 12 foot mark in practice this spring.

Ohio university will meet in an indoor meet March 29. The outdoor schedule follows: April 28—Gevaert at Beaver Falls, Pa.; May 7—Western State normal at Kalamazoo, Mich.; May 13—Denison; May 21—Miami; May 27—Buckeye meet at Granville.

Frank Scoville of Buffalo, 53 years old and one of the country's leading three cushion billiardists, was a professional bicyclist 20 years ago and still trains for tournaments by bicycling.

Eddie Gengen, the University of Washington's great half-mile runner, will begin training in February for the Olympic games.

High Scorer

CLARENCE HENDRICKS

Hendricks, sophomore center on Ohio Wesleyan's basketball team during the season just ended, led all other scorers in the Buckeye conference with the high total of 131 points in 12 games, an average of nearly 11 points per game. In addition, he made 60 points in six non-conference games for a total of 191.

His 131 points were made on 50 field goals and 31 free throws.

DEMPSEY BOOED BY CINCINNATIANS

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, O., March 4.—A chorus of boos from spectators accompanied Jack Dempsey's failure last night to knock out either of two opponents in a Cincinnati ring.

The former champion won decisions over George Tenkile of Oklahoma, and Ray Venzke of Chicago, in two round exhibitions. He had Venzke in distress before their bout was done.

Dempsey, suffering from a slight cold, weighed 193, Tenkile 198, and Venzke 210. The former champion left for Chicago before putting on further exhibitions in a tour to end in Toronto in April. He plans then to go into training for decision bouts in the west.

FIELDS SEEKS TO REGAIN PRESTIGE

By The Associated Press
BOSTON, March 4.—Johnny FIELDS, of East Boston, inspired by the hope he may proclaim himself an uncrowned king, tonight meets Jackie Fields, heavyweight champion, in a ten-round non-title bout.

The champion's last appearance here was a rather sad affair. His performance against Gorilla Jones brought his dismissal from the ring by the referee, who declared the bout "no contest." Jackie promises to do better against Indiana.

Both men can box, both are fast and each carries power in his left as well as his right.

NEW HEAVYWEIGHT IS SIGNED TO APPEAR ON SHOVEL PROGRAM

Glen Wade To Oppose Sailor Arnold Here Next Monday Night

Marion wrestling fans hardly have time to get acquainted with one new grout and green artist than local promoters import another to appear in the Steam Shovel gym mat cards which are held each Monday night next week. Sailor Arnold was the last week.

Sailor Arnold is the newest.

This week the unfamiliar face will belong to Glen Wade, the heavyweight from down Mason and Dixie way.

Sailor Arnold will be back again next Monday night and has been chosen to provide the price of resistance for Wade. The match should be one of the cleanest and fastest heavyweight contests that has been put on here in several weeks.

Wade has not appeared in a local ring for more than a year but has been wrestling in this district for some time. He stands nearly six feet tall, weighs 220 pounds and is exceptionally fast for his size. "Poker Face" Wade is called and he is known to be a hard and clever wrestler. The flying crotch and flying arm stretch are his favorite holds although he sometimes throws down a flying kick that would be a credit to any football player in the country.

Wade prefers to do most of his wrestling on his feet and as a result spectators at his matches are generally treated to a lot of flying armes and similar holds which send opponents crashing to the mat a number of times before he attempts to pin their shoulders down for the required count.

Sailor Arnold will provide a good opponent for Wade. Arnold, claimant of the U. S. navy heavyweight championship, created a good impression here last week in a bout with Martin Ziehoff.

In the semi-final match, held Monday night, Ray Carpenter of the "strong boy" of the light heavyweights will mix things up with Fred Moran, the Texas Irishman. They will clash in a 45 minute battle.

There will be a preliminary between two unnamed opponents.

AGOSTA CARDINALS BEAT SUPER FIVE

The Agosta Cardinal basketball team racked up another victory last night, taking the Marion Super Five into camp by a 33-24 score in a game played on the court of the Star auditorium.

The Super Five took a first period lead but was unable to hold it in the face of a Cardinal drive in later periods and lost the game.

ZANESVILLE GOLFER LEADS TOURNAMENT

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., March 4.—Archie Hambrick of Zanesville, Ohio, cut five strokes off par with an eagle and a handful of birdies yesterday to lead professional golfers in the first half of a 36-hole medal tournament to determine the 16th team in the $5,000 international four-ball matches to start here Sunday.

"Old Time" Scouts Recall Experiences at Meeting

Tales of camping days when the Boy Scout movement was in its infancy in Marion and conveniences such as are enjoyed by the modern Boy Scout campers were unknown. made up the major part of the program at the "old timers" dinner given for former scout leaders at the First Reformed church last night.

Carl O. Midlam, who organized Boy Scout Troop No. 2 more than 17 years ago and John A. Caldwell, who was scoutmaster of Troop 3 in the early days of scouting in the city, were among those who told of not only the difficulties of the camp life, but of the handicaps encountered in building up the troops because of the lack of interest in the movement.

Midlam Starts Movement

Midlam, who is perhaps the father of the Boy Scout movement in the city, said he was prompted to take up the work by the belief that each person should devote a portion of his time to some worthwhile cause—some cause to which he most adapted.

Others Speak

Gene Hill, Frank D. Gossler, president of the Harding Area council, and Glen Wymer, who was presented with a five year veterans badge at the meeting, were also among the speakers who recalled youthful camping experiences.

A study of Indian craft and Indian lore as a means of holding the interest of the older boys, many of whom drop out of the work as they reach what the speaker said was the "girl age" was advocated by Charles Allen, former scoutmaster of Troop 2.
